

Unfortunate News

jamesca...@gmail.com

Oct 3, 2013 8:58 PM

Posted in group: Dartmouth Beta Alpha Bromega

Pledges,

I regret to inform you that a pledge has dropped out of your class. I knew someone wouldn't make it through pledge term, but I didn't think it would be this guy, and I didn't think he would only last a week. Pledge Vivian is no longer a Beta pledge.

He figured that because of his blonde hair, he would do better in KKG. From this point forward, Pledge Viv is a Kappa baby. I was saddened by this news, but my sadness turned to sheer disappointment and outrage when I found the attached photos on his phone. These photos are disrespectful, unacceptable, insulting, and downright appalling. I can't believe he took the time to take these with the self-capture/delay function on the iPhone camera.

Pledge Viv will be wearing his Kappa shirt and bow tomorrow, and then on every Wednesday and for every tails event from this point forward. Be sure to shame him for joining a sorority. He must do what any Kappa (sister or baby) tells him to do at any time. Sounds like he'll be updating his Facebook pretty soon.

Sorry to inform you of this unfortunate news. I hope the rest of you guys make it through pledge term.

~kai~
James